

Never Ending (Football) Game (Saylor's Version)

(Verse 1)

In the glow of city lights, I'm lost in memories,
Walking down these crowded streets, like I'm trapped in a box,
Every face I see reminds me of what used to be,
But I keep on moving, tryna find my way back to our talks.

(Chorus)

Oh, it's a never-ending game,
Trying to outrun the pain,
But I'll keep dancing in the rain,
With every tear, I'll find my flame,
In this fake love's twisted game.

(Verse 2)

Pictures flash inside my mind, like pages from a book,
The story of our love, now torn and tattered,
But I'll rewrite the ending, find the strength to look,
For the silver lining in the storm that shattered.

(Chorus)

Oh, it's a never-ending game,
Trying to outrun the pain,
But I'll keep dancing in the rain,
With every tear, I'll find my flame,
In this fake love's twisted game.

(Bridge)

Through the highs and lows, I'll rise,
With every scar, I'll learn to fly,
In the echo of goodbye,
I'll find the strength to say, "I'm fine."

(Chorus)

Oh, it's a never-ending game,
Trying to outrun the pain,
But I'll keep dancing in the rain,
With every tear, I'll find my flame,
In this fake love's twisted game.

(Outro)

In the silence of the night, I'll find my voice,
And in the wreckage of my heart, I'll make my choice,
To let go of the past, embrace the unknown,
For in the end, I'll find my way back home.
